

Problem:

Planning is the key to success in any organization but where do I start when it comes to Information Technology?

Solution:

E.S. Williams & Associates are not just technical people. We approach our business relationships with appreciation of YOUR business.

We believe that we are engaged to provide the best options and recommendations to our customers so that they can make an informed business decision.

Consulting Services can touch upon many facets of your organization. From Change Management to Software Evaluation, you can be sure that our consultants will provide you with all the data (business and technical) to help you select and implement the best solution to meet your business goals.

Sample Consulting Services:

Service	Description
I.T. Assessments	Provide a client with a high level document that would contain proposed technology and approximate costs.
Implementation Services	This service can include coordination between other vendors like software, electrical, or wiring companies. We can also install and configure all I.T. hardware ensuring that things are tested and signed-off before we leave.
Project Management Services	Our focus is to deliver on time, on budget and to expectations deliverables.
Strategic Consulting	Confused? Not sure how to use I.T. to better your business. Are you not sure what to do next or how to budget for I.T. Solutions? This service can help you develop a roadmap on what to work on today.
Software Evaluation Consulting	Lost in translation? Not sure what the software sales person is telling you? We can help you evaluate products with a technical view to your business.
Disaster Recovery	The use of technology has been proven to improve productivity in the work place. What happens, however, if your building is on fire? Having a documented Disaster Recovery and Business Continuity plan is a key business requirement for businesses that require solutions with minimum downtime.
